MICHAEL FOUNDATION

because it's about Epilepsy

The HARALD FEY PRIZE is an international award recognizing outstanding scientific work or projects that investigate or communicate the causes, prevention, and management of SUDEP. It may be awarded as a research grant–for instance, to support planned or ongoing scientific projects or to fund travel to conferences aimed at stimulating SUDEP research.

The prize is endowed with € 5,000 and is awarded biennially at the joint annual meeting of the German and Austrian Societies for Epileptology and the Swiss Epilepsy League. The prize may be shared.

The prize money is provided to the MICHAEL FOUNDATION by the Fey family through a donation.

The following works or projects may be submitted for the HARALD FEY PRIZE:

- Publications that have been published or accepted for publication
- Documented activities or initiated trainings and further education
- Project plans
- Planned lecture tours to conferences

which aim to investigate the causes of SUDEP and manage the condition.

DEADLINE for Application is December 31st, 2026.
